

COOKWARE SET

Domestic Line.

Specially designed for domestic use.
Made of high quality stainless steel and cast aluminium.
Suitable only for TPB tech® worktops.

REASONS FOR THE ELEVATION.

Thanks to the elevation, the cookware does not wear while cooking nor leaves a mark on the worktop. It also protects against food attaching to the base of the cookware when food drips underneath. As a result, both the cookware and the base will remain always clean.

The residual temperature on the surface remains very low due to the elevation of the cookware since it is not in direct contact with the surface. There are no strident noises when moving the cookware on the surface, and the electrical consumption remains very low.

TPB tech® has a residual temperature range between 80°C and 150°C. Therefore, TPB tech® induction system saves around 50% of energy compared to any other induction system on the market and cools down 70% faster (as a result of its unique composition) and 95% faster if the surface is cleaned with water.

In 2019, the introduction of new energy regulations required all induction systems to produce a maximum of 190 Watts per hour. A standard induction system in glass used 250 Watts per hour, while TPB tech® was already achieving 172 Watts per hour thanks to our pan elevation system and the technical worktop composition.

SAFETY WARNINGS

You should NEVER use the TPB tech® cookware set for cooking in any other induction system, ceramic hobs, gas or any other system than TPB tech® as it could cause an accident in your kitchen.

TPB tech is not responsible for the consequences caused by any improper use of the TPB tech cookware.
